BUILDING BUSINESS THROUGH SYNERGY

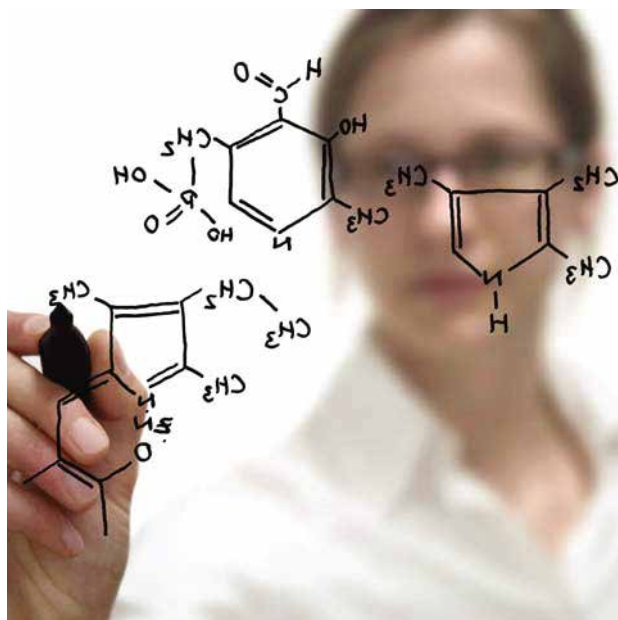

Who We Are

BioAktive is a supplier of functional, plant-derived ingredients for use personal care and cosmetics. Our products are inspired by nature and designed to provide real value and functionality for our customers as they develop products in skin care, hair care, cosmetics, soaps and toiletries.

Our portfolio includes natural-derived alternative to common chemical products such as silicone oils and petroleum jelly as well as plant based functional ingredients such as our emulsion concentrates and other lipid based emollients.

BioAktive is an agile supplier, putting emphasis on product selection, R&D, market knowledge, marketing and distribution. We are responsive to our customer and business partners needs, and work together with them to create solutions to real problems. We are strategic, pragmatic and solution oriented, working to ensure high quality, reliability of supply and cost effectiveness.

BioAktive is BioAktive Specialty Products, part of BioAktive Group Inc, a US company supplying best in class ingredients and supply chain solutions for a range of industries and applications.

How We Work

BioAktive believes in a partnership based model of doing business that creates value across the supply chain. We work with best in class R&D and manufacturing partners with an expertise in their field. We identify opportunities, partner with specialists and leverage our tollers and contract manufacturers in Europe, North America and in Asia, giving BioAktive a diverse set of high quality products that we supply to our partners and distributors around the world.

We actively seek out new products with interesting functionality and applications and work to commercialize them. We also work closely with distributors and end users to develop new products on a case by case basis and leverage our strong network and manufacturing base to provide materials for our partners.
